Scientific warnings of the great astronomer Carlos Muñoz Ferrada, published eleven years ago, reveal that Spain and the Mediterranean demarcate a great catastrophic triangle, along with the Sumatra (Asia Pacific) and the territory of Chile.Hercobulos

These zones were demarcated at the beginning of the astronomic calculations of Ferrada, published in 1999, but we know that each day new zones of high seismicity are added until all earth will be shaken by the global cataclysm.

Muñoz Ferrada explains that this is due to the catastrophic approach of a “comet-planet” called Hercolobus or Planet X, which eventually will pass 14 million of kilometers away from Earth accelerating the GREAT GEOPHYSICAL CHANGE which is already advancing.

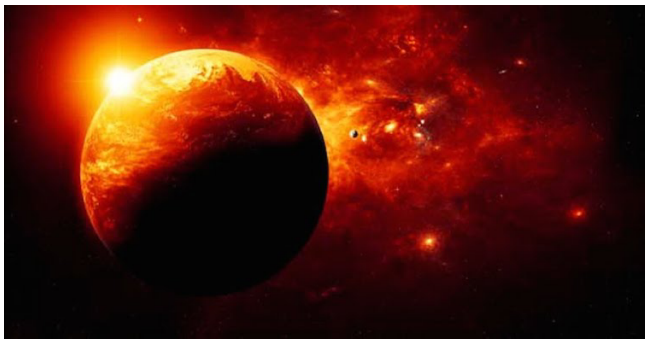
THE CHILEAN ASTRONOMER specified the mass, velocity, orbital time, the trajectory and the terrible consequences of Hercolobus on our Solar System.

The interview was published on June 28th, 1999 on Channel 4 on the Television of Puerto Rico, and has subsequently been broadcast in Venezuela as a part of an EXTRAORDINARY DOCUMENTARY VIDEO by the producer Joseph Landon, director of “Joseph Landon Enterprise”.

Chile recognized Muñoz Ferrada for his mathematical accuracy in regards to the earthquake that devastated in the south-central region of the country in 1939. The accuracy was to such an extent that Ferrada even set the date for the earthquake, which was published in the Journal of Conception; he was only wrong by a difference of two hours. The disaster claimed the lives of 60,000 people.



He also announced the Chilean earthquakes of 1960 [most powerful earthquake ever recorded, rating 9.5 on the moment magnitude scale] and of 1985.

Here are some of the scientific data revealed by Muñoz Ferrada, a genius in geophysics, regarding Hercolubus, who discovered numerous stars, galaxies and comets, and accurately forecasted earthquakes, climate changes, volcanic eruptions and changes in the orbit of Halley’s Comet.

CHARACTERISTICS OF HERCOLUBUS ACCORDING TO CHILEAN ASTRONOMER CARLOS MUÑOZ FERRADA:

IT IS A RED PLANET which travels an elliptical orbit of a comet and has the great mass of a planet; in other words “a planet with a tail” .

The star is charged with cosmic energy, as to say rarefied radiation which according to scholars will alter human health and behavior; it will provoke incurable epidemics and irritability, bringing wars.

Does not comply with the conventionally established celestial physical laws.

Travels between our Sun and a Black Sun which is found 32 trillion kilometers away.

Will pass as close to 14 million kilometers from Earth.

IT IS APPROXIMATLEY SIX TIMES BIGGER THAN JUPITER, thus its approach of 14 million kilometers from our world will create a disastrous attraction with the incandescent liquid minerals inside the Earth, precipitating tremendous internal pressures and therefore volcanoes and earthquakes.

It will end up penetrating our Solar System and be visible to the naked eye as well as photographed.

“Its arrival will cause human and geophysical changes, bringing much change and destruction”.

MUÑOZ FERRADA DID NOT say that the great final catastrophe would occur on August 11th, 1999, but that from that date on the geophysical and climatic changes would intensify, especially earthquakes in the oceans of a volcanic origin with seaquakes and tsunamis.

He said that Hercolubus could BE PHOTOGRAPHED FROM THAT DATE ONWARD and that its apparent appearance in August 1999 would be bigger than the Moon. Indeed, this is how the planet has been seen and photographed, even though the official media have given this phenomenon various false explanations. Now you can for your selves see various photos and videos of “two suns” on various webpages, newspapers, books and magazines.

However, the Chilean astronomer did not mention during this interview that the great planet glows in the infrared range, which makes it difficult to see with the naked eye and only in special conditions of light through the clouds, through special filters or when the weather or the major ASTRONOMICAL PHENOMENA allow it.

There will come a time when Hercolobus will be permanently visible as a second sun and in common conditions in broad daylight. This is why it was rediscovered in the 1980s by the orbiting infrared telescope, IRAS, whose head was Dr. Robert Harrington, supervisor of the orbiting observatory of the North American Astronomical Agency known as NASA.

After five years of study Dr. Harrington revealed the discovery, calculating that the star would pass very close to our world and that from the year 2012 its consequences could be very serious.

The reports were published in North American newspapers and magazines and there are videos which offer testimonies of the affirmations of Doctor Robert Harrington, such as the interview that was done with him by the writer Zecharia Sitchin in 1990.

Very soon thereafter the mysterious death by esophageal cancer of the scientist, who was in charge of the mission of the IRAS telescope, raised serious concern worldwide. There has been much speculation about the timing of Harrington's death by cancer so soon after the interview with Sitchin .

MUÑOZ FERRADA CORROBORATED THAT WHICH WAS ALREADY STATED BY THE GREAT HUMANIST SAMAEL AUN WEOR in the late 70st, both in relation to Hercolubus as well as that the scientists who are at the service of the large groups of economic and political power, would publish various false interpretations in order to try to "COVER UP" the reality of this approaching planet in order to protect the financial markets.

Thus, THEY HAVE POSTED THAT THE OBSERVED STAR IS MARS OR SOME VISITING STAR, and they have invented

scenarios to justify the fall of the satellites and shuttles as well as the terrible atypical electromagnetic and radioactive storms throughout the whole Solar System.

WHO WAS CARLOS MUÑOZ FERRADA?

Chilean antronomer CARLOS MUÑOZ FERRADA

He was born in 1909 in the south of Chile and died September 11th, 2001 in Villa Alemana, Chile´s Fifth Region, the city where he had his residence and observatory.

It is said that one day a friend went to visit him and found him housed in a tent on the patio of his house, saying that soon, according to him, a great earthquake would occur…Some laughed at him upon hearing his scientific projections, but his visitor got worried because Muñoz Ferrada had never failed in the calculation of previous disasters.

A few days after the anecdotal visit there was a major earthquake in Chile in 1985.

From 1926 to 1929 he studied at the Nautical School of Pilotines of the Chilean Navy. In 1956 he received the title of first pilot of Merchant Navy of Chile. In 1970 he became a member and professor of the College of Captains and Pilots of the Merchant Navy.

He studied meteorology and astronomy at the University of Chile. He also studied engineering and physics at Railways of Chile.

He specialized in certain areas at the Astronomical Society of Paris. He was a leading member of the Astronomical Society of Gijón and the Astronomical Society of Milan and was director of the Astronomical Observatory of Panama for five years.

A PART OF HIS SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERIES OF NEW STARS AND GALAXIES (before they were seen by the large telescopes of the world) WERE SENT TO THE ROYAL ASTRONOMICAL ASSOCIATED OF LONDON, prompting the institution to declare: “Due to the unusual case of Mr. Carloz Muñez Ferrada, from now on each new star will take the name of him who first calculated it and not of who accidentally discovered it with a telescope.”

A Mr. Brayan of ROYAL ASTRONOMICAL ASSOCIATED OF LONDON was the one to whom Muñoz Ferrada for the first time sent a written report regarding the discovery of Planet X or Hercolubus and of the catastrophic consequences it would cause to our planet.

He married the Salvadoran Maria Dolores Rivera Lino in 1947 in El Salvador. He met her during one of his trips to that country and fathered four of her children, of whom three survive — Marina, Lucia and Carl.

Muñoz Ferrada earned the respect and admiration of the Chileans for his ability to anticipate climatic and geophysical disasters, but he was often in prison, because every time he came down from his home in Villa Alemana to the Park Plaza Victoria or the park O’Higgins of Valparaiso, the authorities put him in prison for“disturbing the peace and causing anxiety.”.

Certainly, according to strong testimonies of the inhabitants of Valparaiso he was doggedly pursued by the authorities who practically did not allow him to appear in public.

The posthumous report dedicated by The Journal of Today of El Salvador, reads as follows:

In order to explain his observations and predictions, Muñoz Ferrada theorized Geodynamics, which is based on the attractions of the heavenly bodies, large explosions in the sun, and the cycles of the geophysical disturbances. With this method he predicted earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, climate changes, discovered new planets and comets while deciphering their trajectories and other features.

According to Muñoz Ferrada the earthquakes are caused by the gravitational influence of a few stars on others, rather that the accidental movement of the tectonic plates.

On June 28th, 1999, on Channel 4 on the Television of Puerto Rico, after 50 years of investigation and scientific documentation, the great Chilean Astronomer, at 90 years of age, revealed with absolute precision the three velocities that Planet X has in its orbit. Its velocity as it passes close to the dead Sun or the black star, another in the middle of its elliptical orbit and a third as it passes close to our sun, to a thousandth of the speed of light, and 14 million kilometers from Earth.

In August 2004 I arrived in Chile and in Valparaiso and Viña del Mar I handed out the video of the statements provided by Carlos Muñoz Ferrada on Channel 4 in Puerto Rico, as this report had not been widespread in Chile.

Unfortunately the scientific genius, the old man, had died and I could not know him personally, but the strangest thing is that no matter how much I researched I could not find any comments about the circumstances of his death. Even though one webpage says that he died of a lung disease at the age of 92.

Muñoz Ferrada was a scientific genius misunderstood by many and, according to those who knew him, a successful gnostic in his doctrine and practical life. The daughter of Ferrada, Mrs. Marina Muñoz has spoken of her father in the following manner:

“He was a man way ahead for the century in which he lived. There was so much to learn from him, but his knowledge was not always fairly valued.”

I have known of Carlos M. Ferrada for some time now and that he was the primary and foremost expert Planet X. His knowledge was vast and extraordinarily accurate. Its best we heed his warnings as Hercolubus nears our planet. I believe that it is getting closer day by day but will be much much closer than 20M miles when it passes us. In an incredible dream that I had on the night of March 10th, 2011 I was way out in outer space observing Earth from what seemed about 500,000 miles away when I saw this enormous red and horizontally striped mega planet make its approach to our earth from the sotheast to the northeast. Yes it was many many times larger than the earth. A good comparison is the difference between a basketball and a golf ball. Suddenly I was standing on the Earth looking up at this huge planet and it covered almost all of the sky from east to west as far as you could see. Other people were walking around looking and gawking at it also. Some were happy some were crying and some were dancing and some were just going nuts. The number 500,000 kept going through my mind as I watched and looked at this awesome and frightening sight and scene. I will never forget this dream and there is barely never a day that goes by that I dont have thoughts of this coming event.

I have correction to make on Hercolubuses approach. It approached from the southwest and transitted in the sky towards the northeast.
